Fund Objective

The objective of this fund is to provide broad exposure to Eurozone equity markets. It does so by aiming to track the performance of an underlying index of Eurozone shares rather than by active management.

The fund is currently aiming to track the FTSE All World Eurobloc Index through an SSgA Ireland managed fund but may elect to track other appropriate Eurozone indices. The FTSE All World Eurobloc Index comprises large and mid cap stocks providing coverage of the 11 developed markets in the Eurozone.

Market Commentary

After frustration and gloom produced a downbeat finish to 2011, financial markets were more than ready for a change of pace, a shift that the opening days of 2012 proved happy to accommodate. The turn of the calendar unleashed fresh money flows across a range of risky assets, adding extra traction to the liquidity provided by the European Central Bank in late December via long-term refinancing operations (LTRO). Solid US data on employment and manufacturing activity, coupled with European figures that reflected economic stabilization, compelled more cautious investors to increase equity exposure steadily through January, and credit spreads tumbled as confidence improved. The impressive momentum carried easily through February as traders looked forward to the next LTRO from the ECB at the end of the month. But oil prices were also rallying as buoyant demand intersected with concern about potential supply disruptions from the restive Middle East, and March brought market results more nuanced than the uniform prosperity that marked the first two months of the year. Europe managed to complete an orderly restructuring of Greek debt obligations, but trading in the new bonds reflected scepticism that Greece had achieved longer-term fiscal sustainability, and regional financial shares grew nervous again. The first quarter accordingly finished with mixed results for fixed income even as it retained strong gains for global equities.
